Wedge Ratings / June 2003

GolfTest USA has just completed testing on the following wedges: Titleist Vokey C Nickent Genex ARC and Green Grass.

The testing of wedges was conducted using two evaluation rating formats. The first format was done by GolfTest USA Test Administrators and in the second evaluation GolfTest USA asked each golfer to rate several criteria on a scale of 1 to 10 with 1 best. GolfTest USA had average golfers, with handicaps from 5 to 25, test each of listed below. Each golfer hit shots out of the sand, from the fairway and the rough. USA Test Administrators rated each shot on a scale of 1 to 10 and the "Control" and "Accuracy" they felt each golfer displayed with each wedge during the test. These were then combined with the golfers own ratings to come up with an overall rating wedge.

Club makers are placing a lot more emphasis on wedges these days and there are excellent new wedges on the market. Many golfers are carrying 3 or 4 wedges. Golfers who want to improve their short game should give some of these new wedges a try.

The wedges that achieved the highest ratings have been awarded GolfTest USA's "Seal of Excellence". (For more info click here) Those wedges have been designated with asterisks after them.

Let us know if there are other wedges you would like us to test and we will contact manufacturers and see if they will participate in our next testing cycle. requestatest@golftestusa.com

Over several years of testing GolfTest USA has determined that when subjective : objective ratings from our Test Administrators and the golfers taking the test are compared, the overall rating is a very accurate indication of the actual performance of any particular product. There is only a small difference in the ratings yet even a couple of percent difference from one club to another is significant enough to indicate a club that performs at a superior level to other clubs.
